ATTENTION

At the annual meeting of 1949 under article twenty-five it was Voted to have the selectmen investigate the cost, conditions and economy of installing an oil burner in the Town Hall.

During the past year we have asked for estimates and advice as to carrying out the above motion from C. O. Rockwell and L. F. Hugron of Antrim, also from O. B. Peirce of Peterborough, N. H. Both Mr. Rockwell and Mr. Hugron had heating engineers here to figure on this job and all three have submitted estimates. We asked for estimates and advice as to burners, combustion chamber, controls and also on several size tanks from a 1000 gallon to a 10,000 and sizes in between.

In brief our recommendations are as follows:

Burner of capacity of 5 to 7 gal. per hour and a BTU capacity of 500,000 to 1,000,000. Combustion chamber of 2800 degree brick, back-filled with mica. All necessary safety devices, thermostat and all wiring to be installed in a neat manner and to be of good quality materials. Also a timing device to start the burner in time to have the stores warm when they open in the morning.

REPORT OF THE TRUSTEES OF THE JAMES A. TUTTLE LIBRARY

Outstanding among this year's purchases is that of the WORLD BOOK ENCYCLOPEDIA in 19 volumes which we hope will be of special interest to the High School group. Thirty new books have been put into circulation in the children's department, including additions to the popular CHILDHOOD OF FAMOUS AMERICANS series. We are privileged to have the Bookmobile from the State Library call every three months. With this service thirty more children's books are selected by the Librarian to augment our own collection.

Book Week was observed in November by a story hour for the younger children. Members of the Fourth Grade displayed book plates.

Have you noticed the attractive flower arrangements, fall foliage, Christmas greens, and just recently, fragrant narcissus about the rotunda? All credit is due the Garden Club members who have made the interior so attractive all through the summer and fall. The Trustees wish to thank all those who have taken part in this project.

Several years ago Cranston D. Eldredge of the Courier Press offered to give the Library a complete file of the Antrim Reporters if the Trustees would pay the cost of binding, estimated at $100.00. The Trustees at that time, feeling that these bound copies were of historical interest and would be a valuable addition to the Library, accepted the offer. However, the war intervened, and when the volumes were finally delivered, the present Trustees were billed for $236.00. Operating as we are at present on a limited budget, we do not feel it wise to spend such a large proportion of our income on this item. An article has been included in the warrant to see if the Town will vote the difference of $136.00 to preserve these papers.

In connection with our budget the Trustees feel the need to again point out the fact that the total income of the Library is barely sufficient to meet the yearly operating expenses. Any major repair such as the projected work on the chimneys may, and probably will, require funds from the Town.

Respectfully submitted,

MIRIAM W. ROBERTS

The Hope of Democracy

The bulwark of our freedom and civil rights and our protection against the several types of autocracy is our democratic system of education. If it can eventually lead men to conquer superstition, fear, insecurity and poverty; the causes of war will be forever obliterated.

The process of building a satisfactory democratic culture can only be accomplished with well balanced and effective individuals. This premise marks the vital difference between recent education and modern education. We now know that life demands more than individually competent persons. The peoples of this world are so dependent on each other, socially, politically, and economically, that no amount of individual brilliance and personal accomplishment can make our society function well unless we all learn to work together in increasingly large groups. Our schools cannot stop with the teaching of subjects and routine skills for personal use because social co-operation and democratic living are at least as important objectives of modern education as are the development of individual skills and academic knowledge.

There will never again be security for individuals or nations until men learn to live peacefully by experiencing and learning to understand democratic living.

What We Teach:

READING

To the parent or teacher of every pupil, the ability to read appears as the most important single skill which the school develops in the child. It is, however, one of the most complicated of the learning processes.

Modern educators know that famous growth studies show that children are fundamentally different. Nature has given each child a rate of growth which belongs to him and which is rather unalterable. From these studies, we know that the variations of growth in children affects the reading development just as we know that all children don't begin to walk at exactly the same age.

In the teaching of reading, we are trying to help the child to recognize the word and form in his mind, a mental picture of what it represents. Therefore, the child must know what the word means besides being able to recognize it. Mrs. Mulhall, often spends considerable effort in illustrating her reading lesson so that the child can visualize his words. This type of teaching has to be carried on up through the grades, for we can not expect all the transformation to take place in any one grade in view of our scientific knowledge concerning child growth. Mrs. Mulhall, likewise has unusual success as a teacher of reading. Pupils in our lower grades now show marked success in reading due to the hard work on the part of the teachers, availability of needed materials, and groups small enough to obtain needed attention from the teacher.

ARITHMETIC

We frequently find parents who are at least puzzled by modern methods of teaching arithmetic. The cause is simple, in that not many educators have tried to tell parents of the many scientific improvements in arithmetic teaching over the last twenty years.

Most teachers try to develop pupils in arithmetic along two important paths—arithmetic understandings, and arithmetic facts. Much work has been done in placing the various processes into the proper grade levels. For example: two times seven can be learned very early where as seven times seven is harder and is learned in a later grade. Hence, while we may be said to be not teaching the "tables" in some situations, we are teaching the same facts in more satisfying stages and with meaning to the child.

As in reading, our task is to see that the child not only masters the basic skills but also gains the ability to use them intelligently.

SOCIAL STUDIES

The term social studies has been adopted rather generally throughout this country, over the last twenty years, to include studies which have to do with people and their way of life which depends on their location on the earth and their historical background.

Twenty years ago these studies were often listed separately as: History, Geography, Civics, Current Events, Citizenship, Character Training, Economics, etc.

Our boys and girls seem to have more need for knowledge and understandings of basic economic facts and their effects on men and nations, than they have need to memorize whole lists of famous battles as in former years. In our social studies classes, children experience democratic living, learn how to find information and how to use the information they find. They learn to share responsibilities of group work based on the work they have done in getting the needed information perhaps individually. They prepare written and oral reports and remedy their own weaknesses which they learn to recognize in themselves.

This is a very brief description of experience in democratic living. Our teachers are doing considerable good work in this field and invite your interested visits to their classrooms.

RELATED AREAS

The two other important fields of teaching are the Fine Arts and Health Education.

While our Fine Arts program has been seriously crippled because of lack of funds, it is worthwhile to indicate its scope and note that our classroom teachers are trying to carry on various aspects of it. Ideally it would consist of correlated classroom activities in Visual Art, Music, Poetry, Dance and Drama.

These are all means of language or expression and are essential to the development of the type of person this world needs most.

In our health program, we are interested in promoting health protection and health understandings. Generally, we have improved our recreational program as far as our unsatisfactory plant will permit. Yearly physical examinations by the school physician, and follow up work by the school nurse has helped pupils and parents to understand and remedy health defects.

HIGH SCHOOL SUBJECTS

The list of subjects offered in our High School is covered in the report of the Headmaster in these pages. While the list is adequate for the present, the amount of time devoted to many of the subjects could profitably be materially increased.

For our high school boys and girls we are striving to meet their general needs as outlined by the National Commission on Life Adjustment Education, which report was the object of our study at the 1948 Teachers' Workshop attended by our Staff. The criteria developed by the National Commission follows:

1. All youths need to develop salable skills and should be given opportunities for worthwhile experiences appropriate to their capacities and their vocational intention for the future.
2. All youths need to develop and maintain good physical health, physical fitness and desirable personality traits.
3. All youths need to understand the rights and practice of the responsibilities of the citizen of a democratic society.
4. All youths need to understand and practice worthy home membership in preparation for future home responsibilities.
5. All youths need to know how to purchase and use goods and services intelligently, understanding both the values received by the consumer and economic consequences of their acts.
6. All youths need to understand the methods of science, the influence of science on human life, and the main scientific facts concerning the nature of the world and of man.
7. All youths need to enjoy and evaluate literature, art, music, nature and productions of radio, screen and stage.
8. All youths need to develop respect for other persons and to grow in their insight into ethical values and principles.
9. All youths need to be able to use their leisure time well and budget it wisely.
10. All youths need to grow in their ability to think rationally to express their thoughts clearly and to read and listen with understanding.

Conclusion:

Boys and girls in the Antrim school have many opportunities to profit from a modern educational program. The citizens have been kind to them in supporting the important changes which have been brought about. Several students have graduated from the High School and have honored it by their records at post-secondary schools. The percentage of those who are thus successful may be expected to increase as the improved elementary program sends its pupils on into the High School. The success of our educational program will be equal to the total success of all our pupils however, and their understandings of, and loyalty to, the democratic life.

In the words of our recent Commissioner of Education, Dr. Edgar Fuller; "New times demand new schools. Rote learning, lock-step teaching, 'busy-work' which wheedles hours away in meaningless memorizing or pointless copying are not suited to the needs of growing boys and girls. Neither are dingy, dark, and unsanitary buildings, creaking with memories which only the elders, looking back, revere. Young people, by nature, look ahead."

Antrim may well look with pride on the tradition in the good educational system it has fostered. The very excellence of this tradition, however, should not operate to check the march of time and interfere with the building of an educational system to meet the needs of today.

It has been a real pleasure to work with Mr. Johnson, Mr. Wood, and Mr. Brown of the School Board and with all the sincere men and women teachers of the Antrim School faculty. We should recognize also the wonderful work of Mrs. Edna Humphrey for directing the noon lunch program and who is so loyally assisted by Mrs. Mary Warren and Mrs. Dora Miner. Nor can we fail to congratulate Mr. Ellerton Edwards for his helpful work as president of the P.T.A. and the organization itself for promoting a better understanding of the school program.

Our thanks go to all these and all the other men and women and pupils who working together through education, helped our schools succeed again.

Respectfully submitted,

STEWART V. MCCORMACK
Superintendent of Schools
